THURSDAY

1:00–4:00 PM

FEATURED WORKSHOPS

- ◆ What We Have Learned in 25 Years of Developmental Reading Research
Presented By: Dr. David Cavalry
Teaching developmental reading has evolved over the last 25 years following growing technological and cultural expectations of what it means to be academically literate. This workshop will review this evolution, provide hands-on experiences with instructional principles to develop new literacies, and generate discussion on improving literacy instruction.
- ◆ The Natural Learning Process
Presented By: Dr. Rita Smilkstein
Knowing how the brain learns helps instructors create curricula that will help students to be naturally motivated and successful learners. This workshop will share information on cutting-edge brain research as well as share brain-compatible learning activities and pedagogical strategies.

FRIDAY

9:00 AM–3:30 PM

KEYNOTE PRESENTATION

- ◆ Featuring a Presidents' Panel Moderated by Jim Folkening, DELEG
Dr. Jim Jacobs (Macomb), Mr. Tim Nelson (Northwestern), & Dr. Dick Shaink (Mott)
